Plan one Warm T.L.C. campaign

Fill in one box per step as we go. Rough drafts are fine.

Name _____ Company _____

1 Name the goal

Get [who] to [do what] by [when], measured by [one number].

2 Pick the theme

The pain, told as a story: pain, feeling, metaphor, the line people repeat.

3 Build the content bank

Answer the question the buyer is asking at each stage. Traffic and Leads run deep. Convert stays short.

Traffic

Still learning about the problem

Leads

What are my options? Can I trust them?

Convert

A few final questions

4 Decide channels and tactics

How will you get the story into the market at each stage? Retargeting keeps running the whole time.

	Channels	Tactics
Warm No ask. Pain-point ads.
Traffic Visit and read. Ungated.
Leads Value for contact info.
Convert Talk, trial or demo.

5 Build the hub page

The starting point every ad points to. Plug in your notes for each section.

1 The problem

Headline in your ad's pain language, plus the first call to action.

Notes

2 What better looks like

What changes once the problem is gone.

Notes

3 The solution, briefly

One or two sentences on what you offer, plus a call to action.

Notes

4 Proof

Customer words, word for word. Never written for them.

Notes

5 Three content tiles

Top, middle and bottom of the journey, side by side. Start with 2 to 3.

Notes: top, middle, bottom

6 The ask: a short form

Low friction. Never a bare demo request. Repeat the call to action down the page.

Notes

5 Build the email nurture

Demand gen nurture for new opt-ins and existing contacts. Signals choose the next email, not time alone. Make each stage longer than feels normal.

a: DESIGNED EMAIL
From marketing.

b: PLAIN TEXT FROM A PERSON
Same content, 3 days later, only if there was no click on a.

PULSE CHECK
Only if they are not engaging (no email clicks or site visits). Buttons update the contact record.

TOFU Thought leadership	MOFU Company and solution	BOFU Ready to talk
1a / 1b: blog	5a / 5b: vendor comparison	9a / 9b: schedule a discovery call
2a / 2b: guide	6a / 6b: buyer's guide	10a / 10b: another ask to meet
3a / 3b: other education	7a / 7b: why the company	11a / 11b: add more
4a / 4b: add more	8a / 8b: add more	12a / 12b: add more

Pulse 1
Which topics interest you? One button per topic, then a thank-you page with resources.

Pulse 2
Are you a decision maker for this topic? A no removes them from this content type.

Pulse 3
Better time to reach out? 6, 12 or 18 months, or not interested.

ACCELERATE: move them forward when…

Example: they visit a pricing or demo page.

MOVE BACK: re-engage earlier when…

Example: they skipped ahead, then went quiet.

Every call to action delivers what it offered and keeps them navigating, so you pick up signals. Product pushes, customer campaigns, events and webinars use separate templates.
